Join Britain's only membership think tank

The Fabian Society is a left-leaning think tank dedicated to new public policy and political ideas. We are a membership movement, active throughout Britain and open to everyone on the left, an affiliate to the Labour party and one of its original founders. We don't have organisational policy views and instead embrace debate and difference.

Join us and you'll receive at least four pamphlets or books a year, our quarterly magazine Fabian Review & invitations to special members' events as well as regular conferences & debates with leading politicians and thinkers.

I'd like to become a Fabian
