About the post

The Fabian Society is seeking an enthusiastic and reliable events and digital assistant to help deliver our in-person, online and hybrid events, and our digital engagement and communications. The role will involve working on our busy events programme, producing content for our social media channels and coordinating email communications to our members and stakeholders.

Our 12-month assistant positions are designed for people with significant potential who do not have previous experience of working in politics. You will enter a year-long development programme during which you will be trained to perform all aspects of the job and undertake a wider induction into working in politics. We strongly encourage applications from people under-represented in politics and at the Fabian Society, including disabled people, people from racially diverse backgrounds and people from low-income backgrounds.

The Fabian Society is an independent left-wing think tank and democratic membership society with over 7,000 members. We publish articles and reports, conduct research and major inquiries, convene conferences and events and facilitate our members' political debate and activism across the UK. The society is affiliated to the Labour party but editorially and organisationally independent. We have 12 employees, who are mainly based in our own central London office (close to St James Park tube station). Our employees share the aims and values of the society and automatically join as members upon appointment.

Job description

Events

1. Co-ordinate the delivery of Fabian Society events, including public meetings, conferences, lectures, receptions and policy seminars, under the direction of the events and marketing manager:
 - a. Assist with the development of events by identifying and inviting speakers and other contributors.
 - b. Liaise effectively with funding partners, contractors and speakers
 - c. Deliver in-person events, coordinating their smooth running and representing the society to attendees
2. Promote and publicise Fabian events through stakeholder and member communications and our social media channels:
 - a. Create website pages for our events
 - b. Promote events through social media posts and graphics
 - c. Assist with online event registration and payment functions
3. Assist with the digital delivery of online and hybrid events using online meeting platforms and audiovisual equipment
4. Assist in follow-up and evaluation following events, including thanking speakers, sponsors and participants, writing reports of events, and obtaining feedback.

Digital and communications

5. Schedule, plan, draft and send regular email bulletins to stakeholders, members of the public, Fabian members and former members.
6. Work with colleagues to deliver the society's social media engagement across all areas of our output
7. Work with colleagues to maintain and build the society's contacts database especially with respect to stakeholders, event registrations and email communications.

Person Specification

Candidates should show as many of these attributes as possible – and demonstrate the aptitude to develop in the remaining areas:

1. Relevant experience in events management and digital communications.
2. Excellent organisational abilities and a proactive approach to problem solving, with the ability to meet competing deadlines, deal with changing circumstances and resolve problems.
3. Experience of developing and maintaining good relationships with professional contacts and members of the public.
4. Excellent written and verbal communication skills; with the ability to draft clear and engaging copy; with attention to detail and a high level of accuracy.
5. Strong digital literacy with the ability to quickly acquire proficiency in a wide range of software packages and online services; and the interest and aptitude to continue developing digital skills and become a more advanced user of relevant packages over time, for example:

Office 365 applications; website content management systems (eg WordPress); design packages (eg Adobe suite); databases and CRM systems (eg CiviCRM); digital event and video platforms; social media platforms.
6. Ability to work collaboratively as part of a team, engaging with colleagues across the organisation.
7. Commitment to the values and ethos of the Fabian Society; and demonstrable interest in or experience of UK left-wing politics.
8. Willingness to work occasionally at weekends and evenings and travel to conferences and events across the UK.

When you work additional hours you will be able to take time off in lieu (TOIL) subject to our TOIL policy and with the agreement of your line manager.

About the Fabian Society

The Fabian Society has been imagining the future of the left since 1884

- We are a left-leaning think tank dedicated to new public policy and political ideas
- We are a membership movement, active throughout Britain and open to everyone on the left
- We are a democratically governed socialist society, an affiliate to the Labour party and one of its original founders
- We don't have organisational policy views and instead embrace debate and difference
- We champion and celebrate Fabianism, the belief that radical long-term goals are best advanced through empirical, practical, gradual reform

The Fabian Society is an independent left-leaning think tank and a democratic membership society with over 7,000 members. We influence political and public thinking and provide a space for broad and open-minded debate. The Fabian Society publishes insight, analysis and opinion in print and online, conducts research and undertakes major policy inquiries, convenes conferences, speaker meetings and roundtables, and facilitates member debate and activism right across the UK

As a think tank we have a big impact on political and policy debate. Our staff team in London and Edinburgh work with a wide network of leading politicians and policy experts to develop and promote new ideas and to influence the climate of political opinion. Read about our current projects and our three thematic priorities.

Our members are at the heart of everything we do. They set the society's direction, through member meetings, elections and committees. They shape our programme as contributors and volunteers. And each year hundreds of activities are organised by and for our members by autonomous sections of the society – the Young Fabians, the Fabian Women's Network, the Scottish Fabians, the Welsh Fabians – and by 40 affiliated local Fabian societies.

The Fabian Society is one of the original founders of the Labour party and is constitutionally affiliated to the party as a socialist society. We have a stake in Labour's democratic processes at local, regional and national level. But we are wholly independent of the party editorially, organisationally and financially.

We are committed to transparency and accountability – find out more.

What we stand for

The Fabian Society is a socialist organisation which aims to promote:

- greater equality of power, wealth and opportunity

- the value of collective action and public service
- an accountable, tolerant and active democracy
- citizenship, liberty and human rights
- sustainable development
- multilateral international cooperation

The society is a place for open debate where disagreement is expected and respected. As an organisation we have no collective positions and we do not campaign for particular policies. Everyone who writes or speaks for the Fabians does so in their own name, without committing the society.

The 'Fabian' tradition informs how we think and what we do. No other think tank has an 'ism' of its own. Our commitment to Fabianism means we believe in the fight against inequality, the power of collective action and an internationalist outlook. We believe in social progress, evidence, expertise, rationality and long-termism. We advocate gradualist, reformist and democratic means in a journey towards radical ends. We are a pluralist movement and create space for open debate.
